DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 2, 9, 10, 18, 26, and 27, drawn to pharmaceutical comprising 8H9 antibody or derivative, scFv of said antibody, a cytotoxic agent linked to said antibody, classified in class 530, subclass 388.1, 387.1, and also classified in class 424, subclass 130.1.
- II. Claims 16, and 17, drawn to protein reacting with 8H9 antibody, classified in class 530, subclass 350.
- III. Claims 19-24, drawn to nucleic acid, vector, cell, and method to produce the protein, which binds to 8H9 monoclonal antibody classified in class 536, subclass 23.1.
- IV. Claims 25, drawn to method to produce antibody, classified in class 435, subclass 69.6.
- V. Claims 28, drawn to method of inhibiting the growth of tumor cells using 8H9 monoclonal antibody, classified in class 424, subclass 130.1, 134.1, 135.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I-III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions I-III are drawn to different products with different biological functions.

Inventions IV and V are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions IV and V are drawn to different methods using different reagents i.e. invention IV requires protein to accomplish the purpose set out in the preamble of the claim and invention V requires 8H9 monoclonal antibody to accomplish the purposed set out in the preamble of the claim.

Inventions I and V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product such as purifying a protein that binds to the antibody claimed in invention I.

These inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification. The search required for each of the above inventions is not coextensive with regard to the literature and the sequence searches. Further, a reference which would anticipate the invention of any one group would not necessarily anticipate or make obvious the any of the other groups. For these reasons, restriction for examination purposes is proper.

Art Unit: 1642

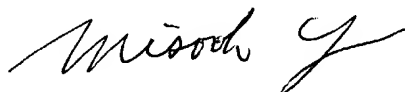

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
